Policy Title

Equality & Diversity Policy

1. Scope

This policy is designed to ensure that NC Group complies with its obligations under equality legislation (The Equality Act 2017) and demonstrates our commitment to treating people equally and fairly.

In England, Scotland and Wales, the Equality Act 2017 brought together and harmonised equality legislation. Legislation in Northern Ireland is different and is principally from Section 75 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998, Equal Status Act 2000, revised to 2015 (ROI) and all other equivalent/relevant/legislation.

The Northern Ireland Act 1998 places public authorities, including HEIs, under a duty to have due regard to the need to promote equality of opportunity between:

- People of different religious beliefs, political opinions, racial groups, ages, marital statuses or sexual orientations
- Men and women generally
- People with and without a disability
- People with and without dependants

Equality means everyone having the same chances to do what they can. Some people may need extra help to get the same chances.

Diversity recognises that each of us are different and unique, consequently, it makes sense that treating everyone the same is not necessarily going to work. Different people will have aspirations, expectations, opportunities, responsibilities and needs. Therefore, treating people fairly means recognising their differences, respecting them and acting accordingly. In short, diversity is about valuing differences.

We recognise and value people’s differences and will assist them to use their talents to reach their full potential.

NC Group is opposed to any form of discrimination on the grounds of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage or civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation (defined as Protected Characteristics).

2. Responsibilities

The Directors have overall responsibility for promoting awareness of this policy and for monitoring its effectiveness and to ensure individuals and learners.

- Adhere to the policy
- Inform [Individual Name] if they become aware of any discrimination practices
- Help to create an environment in which all individuals are valued and respected.

5 Common areas where discrimination can occur

Everyone has a responsibility to respect the feelings and sensibilities of others and to behave in a way that does not cause offence. Respect for all people is at the heart of our strategy and will take all reasonable steps to avoid discrimination against:

- Direct discrimination: When an individual is treated less favourably than you treat (or would treat) another individual because of a protected characteristic.
- Discrimination by association: When an individual is treated less favourably because of their association with another person who has a protected characteristic.
- Perceptive discrimination: Where an individual is directly discrimination against an individual because others think, they possess a particular protected characteristic.
- Indirect discrimination: When a certain criteria or practice is applied in the same way for all individuals but has the effect of putting others sharing a protected characteristic at a particular disadvantage.
- Age – treating someone unfairly because they are being too old or too young
- Disability – treating someone unfairly because they have a disability such as sensory or mobility impairment, a form of disfigurement, or a learning or mental health problem
- Gender reassignment – treating someone unfairly because they are proposing to undergo, is undergoing or has undergone a process (or part of a process) for the purpose of reassigning the person's sex by changing physiological or other attributes of sex
- Marriage or civil partnership - treating someone unfairly because the person is married or is a civil partner
- Race, religion or belief – treating someone unfairly because of where they or their family, originate from or because of their faith, culture or skin colour, or failing to respect their religious or philosophical beliefs
- Pregnancy and maternity - treating someone unfavourably because of a pregnancy or given birth or breast feeding
- Sex - treating someone unfairly because of their sex - a man or a woman
- Sexual orientation and transsexuality – treating someone unfairly because they are a gay man, a lesbian, bisexual or transgendered or of another sex

6 Reasonable adjustment

It is the responsibility of NC Group and its instructors/assessors/staff/subcontractors to identify learners who are having difficulty or are likely to have difficulty in undertaking training or assessment activities. It is important that the learner is involved in all discussions to set any reasonable adjustments.

We will endeavour to accommodate the needs of learners with a particular training, qualification or assessment requirement, according to individual circumstances, ensuring such learners are not disadvantaged in relation to other learners and that certificates accurately reflect learner attainment.

We will give every consideration to reasonable adjustment or special consideration requests and will consult with and follow the Awarding Organisation or Accrediting Body process for which the training /qualification/assessment is accredited with. Please refer to the Reasonable Adjustment Policy which outlines reasonable adjustments for learners. Records of reasonable adjustments will be kept for audit purposes and evaluated for trends and continual improvement.
